25 YEARS of
SYNCHRONICITY
SMART. GUTSY. BOLD. THEATRE.

“It is rare to find an arts organization that has braved the realities of COVID so effectively as Synchronicity has.”

– government grant funder panelist

Bob Marley's Three Little Birds was named as one of the 5 Summer Family Shows to See by ArtsATL and the Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

Our Annex, Theatre and Scene Shop are building community at full speed, hosting organizations like Theatrical Outfit, Tiny Theatre, Unesco, OutFront Theatre, Telsey Casting for Broadway's Wicked, the Suzi Bass Awards, local filmmakers and more!

Our New Stages Three Little Birds tour brought the joy of live theatre to students across the state, including highly-underserved kids in southwest Georgia.

A new partnership with ArtsBridge brought our unique education programming into the Gresham YMCA, and brought hundreds of kids to see Three Little Birds.

Our education program has continued to expand with new after-school programs, partnerships with City of Refuge and Gresham Recreation Center, and full-production classes that will perform on our stage.

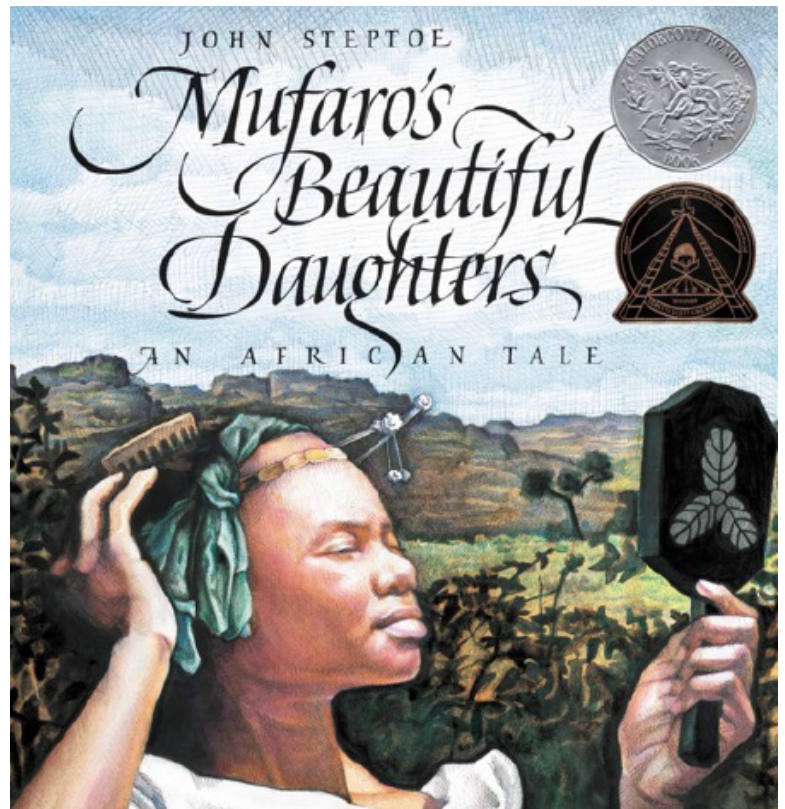

Our 25th Season started in early July with our board of directors approving our next 5-year strategic plan. The plan charts the next part of our vision to manifest brave space that fosters authentic community through theatre. Ms. Holmes & Ms. Watson - #2B, the first show of our season, was called "a spoof that really is a hoot." (ArtsATL) We are also thrilled to announce that we are working with Bweela Steptoe to develop a new musical premiere of John Steptoe's Mufaro's Beautiful Daughters, highlighting the talents of LeRel Ross (music) and Taryn Janelle (lyrics). And most recently, our productions garnered 4 Suzi Bass Award nominations, including Best Ensemble for The Bluest Eye and Outstanding Production of a Play for Legacy of Light.
